Fixed Rate Early Repayment Fee

Payable whenever, during any period when the Annual Percentage Rate (APR) applying to your loan contract is fixed ('the fixed period'):

- You can repay the loan in full; or
- You can prepay, during any period of 12 months, more than $20,000 in excess of the repayments required by your loan contract.

The fee is the present value of:

- (a) The total interest that would be payable on the relevant amount* for the remainder of the fixed period calculated at the current fixed APR; minus
- (b) The total interest that would be payable on the relevant amount* for the remainder of the fixed period calculated at the fixed APR we are currently offering for a fixed rate period nearest in duration to, but not more than 6 months different from, the remainder of the fixed rate period (or, if there is no such rate, our standard variable rate for home loans),

Provided that no fee is payable if (a) is equal to or less than (b).

*If the fee is payable because you repay the loan in full, the relevant amount is the outstanding loan balance immediately before the fee became payable. If the fee is payable because of prepayments which do not repay the loan in full, the relevant amount is the amount you have prepaid in the 12 month period in excess of the repayments required by your loan contract.

Written Notice Fee

Payable whenever we send you a notice that your repayments are in arrears or your account is overdrawn.
